"DEATH TRAIN" IS STEADILY MOVING

Shunted On From Station to Station, Covering 4,000 Miles in Russia.

RESCUED BY U. S. RED CROSS

Scatters Victims of Disease Along Railroad Line in Siberia—Americans Save the Survivors at Raddolne.

Tokio.—For the second time word comes out of Siberia of a "death train" traversing the 4,000 miles of railroad between the Ural front and the Pacific, shunted on from station to station, with help denied until word of it reached the American Red Cross.

Word of the presence of this train on the main line between Irkutsk and Vladivostok reached American Red Cross headquarters in the latter city a few weeks ago, and preparations were started immediately to succor what survivors there might be of the callous cruelty these stricken soldiers of the Kolchak army had been subjected to.

Doctor Dies on Train. The death train, they had last heard, was at Nikolsk on August 27, where the Russian authorities had simply passed it on, as all other Russian officials had done at every station for weeks.

The Red Cross train caught up to the death train at Raddolne, where it lay on a siding near a barracks in which American troops were quartered.

discovered the facts. Until these American soldiers, in a more or less rough and ignorant way, offered some help, the patients in the death train had received nothing from the troops they had met except alarmed orders from commanders to be on their way.

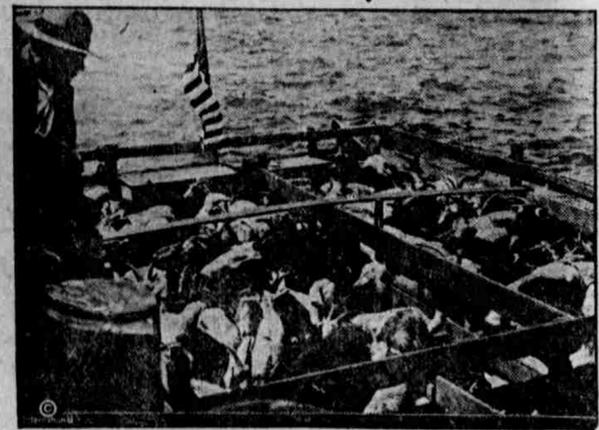

Before reaching the death train the Red Cross officials had made arrangements to bring the typhus and cholera patients to the Russian hospital at Nikolsk, which had been fitted up by the Inter-Allied sanitary committee, and permission had been obtained from Colonel Lewis, of the American army, to use the inter-allied wards of this institution.

WONDERING OVER PILGRIM FATHERS

Plymouth, Mass.—With the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers little more than a year away, Plymouth is cogitating eagerly and blindly as to whether "the tercentenary celebration" of the great event is going to be held in Plymouth or in Provincetown.

It is a fact little known to the people of these United States and ignored by most histories that Plymouth has for years been basking unjustly in the white light of fame as the first landing place of the Pilgrim Fathers.

RESCUE OF STARVING MEXICAN GOATS

The island of Guadaloupe, off the western Mexico coast, is inhabited by goats only—some 50,000 of them. This year they are starving, owing to lack of rain there, and many of them are being shipped to the foothill ranches of southern California.

OBJECT TO SHAVING

Writers of Paris Up in Arms Over Order.

Cafe Proprietors Insist That Servitors Must Leave Off Lip Fringe.

Paris.—Writers in seven or eight of the largest cafes on the Paris boulevards have been stirred to angry protest by orders to shave their mustaches or quit.

One of the bitterest grievances the writers had when they went on strike last April was the edict of the employers to the effect that writers must sacrifice their mustaches. The writers triumphed and the employers agreed they should be permitted to adorn their visages as they pleased.

"The waiters are sufficiently humiliated to have to earn their living by extending their hands to receive what often proves to be a ridiculous tip, without being forced to forego one of the privileges of manhood," said the secretary of the union.

"Whether through snobbishness or in the hope of appearing original, customers choose to make their faces as glabrous and depilated as that of the Americans, or aim to copy the two combs on the upper lip of a well-known moving picture actor; that is their business. We must insist that the conventions entered into at the time of the strike be respected; that the mustache has always been in vogue in France, and to suppress it is

Life and Death Ride Race in Ambulance

Dayton, O.—Life and death rode a race in a police ambulance here, and both won. John T. Weber, taken suddenly ill, was being rushed to a hospital when the ambulance was stopped by an emergency call to take Mrs. J. Rogan to the same institution.

and brought there in sterilized and sanitary clothing. The Red Cross report showed that there had been fifty deaths aboard the train between the time it had left Perni and the time the rescuers reached it at Raddolne.

Being refused help in all directions, the Red Cross workers did the only thing possible. They ran the death train out on the prairie and extemporized a field hospital. One by one the living skeletons were taken from their train, their clothing stripped off and burned and the men given a scouring bath and then placed aboard the Red Cross train.

The effect of the clean clothes, the kindnesses, in such contrast to what they had previously undergone, and the hope finally held out for recovery was almost miraculous.

been drowned by falling from a boat in the bay, and where—most noteworthy fact of all—had been written and signed in the cabin of the Mayflower what is known to the world as the first purely democratic government ever produced, the Mayflower compact guaranteeing to dwellers under the Pilgrim government equal rights of living and being, no matter what their standing may have been in the past or what it might be in the future.

History tells us that the date of the landing of the Pilgrims at Provincetown and the date of the compact is November 21. The discrepancy is due to the ten days' difference between old style time and new style time.

The tercentenary celebration must be held in Provincetown, say the adherents of the mainland towns because, besides being the historically accurate place where the Pilgrims fought their fight against annihilation and destruction, it is more easily accessible and all around better suited in every way.

"The celebration must be held in Provincetown," say the dwellers in the Cape Cod claimant to the honor, "because this is the true landing place of the Pilgrim Fathers. Here they terminated the terrible wintry voyage and were able to get fresh water and fresh food at the end of the trip; here they signed the compact under which they governed the colony; it was from the hill on which now stands the Pilgrims' Memorial monument, that they first saw the mainland, and it was here they spent a month of recuperation before pressing ahead to the West. And we have the monument to prove our claim."

Whether the celebration will be held here in Provincetown or in Provincetown, or whether it will be held at all, are still moot questions, and perhaps the latter possibility is the best solution of the problem. There is still a year to decide, and some way may be found of averting bloodshed in the argument between the two disputants for final honors in the "Pilgrim Arrival Stakes."

an indignity and diminishes the morale, value and patriotism of the personnel of the cafes."

False Teeth for Dog.

Kansas City, Mo.—In answer to an advertisement requesting a loan of a "toothless dog," inserted by Ralph Hardin, a veterinary surgeon, Jack Gallagher, a member of the Kansas City kennel club, delivered to Dr. Hardin a Scotch collie which possessed but two teeth, one on each side. Hardin, with the assistance of a dentist, made a set of teeth for the dog. According to observers the new teeth are a success.

Valued More Than Gold.

Findlay, O.—The pantry in the home of George Shontemire on the Fostoria road offered more inducements to thieves who entered the home than any other part of the house. They took a jar containing home-made cookies, a pumpkin pie, a pan of baked beans and a gallon of milk, including the utensils. They also stole a pocket knife.

GREAT SECRET OUT AT LAST WILL NOT USE GERMAN DYES

Observing Intellect Has Discovered How the Brain That Names Sleeping Cars Works.

I used to be awed, writes Inobetta, at the thought of the intellectuality of the man who names the Pullman cars. To what storehouse of classical or historical lore did this mentality have access, that he could exhume therefrom such names—names that seemed to mean something, but yet just eluded analysis? I used to think I'd like to meet that bird.

But I've pegged him at last! He's no giant intellect at all. He's just a pathological specimen—one of these wrong-foot cases the medical journals have been discussing lately, whose cerebral or spinal connections seem to be crossed. Their handwriting goes from right to left—it's called "mirror writing." Their co-ordinating mechanism is constantly in reverse gear. And how do I know that the nomenclator of Pullman cars is one of these? Simply this:

The sleeper in which I rode from Cincinnati to Atlanta the other day was named "Klimwoe!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Must Have Had It All. "I understand you have had a slight operation?"

"That's what I thought I had, but I got the bill for it yesterday and I'm inclined to think now that while I was under the ether the surgeon gave me everything he had in stock."

Apportioned Conversation. "I assume that your wife generally has the last word."

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton. "Also the first word and most of those in between."

Live lobsters were the first merchandise carried by the new air service between Paris and Brussels.

Money is not the real gauge of wealth.

Real Reason Why the Red Trousers of the French Infantryman Have Been Discarded.

The red trousers of the French army are to be no more. There is a political and economical tragedy about it with which very few people are familiar. The originator of the red trousers was Napoleon, who was prompted in his "reform" by a desire to help the native cultivation of madder root against the Dutch and Italian rivals.

But then came the Gruebe-Liebermann discovery of the alizarine dyes, and in less than ten years, between 1870 and 1873, the production of madder root in France shrank from 25,000 to 500 tons, and then it disappeared. This was a great German victory. Nevertheless, the army trousers continued to be dyed red, only this time the dyes had to be imported from Germany. It evidently required a great war to put an end to this humiliation.

An Oversupply.

The help problem bothers them in the Orient also, but in a different way. A gentleman who had returned from India remarked, "The worst thing about the place is the nuisance of numerous servants. Why, when I was at Bogglwallah I had four servants to look after my pipe alone."

"Four servants to attend to your pipe?"

"Yes. The first one brought it to me; the second filled it; the third lit it—"

"And the fourth?"

"Oh, he smoked it. I never could abide tobacco in any form, you know."

Some men use all the material they have at hand in making fools of themselves.
